For Student Clients:

- While I cannot guarantee you a specific grade on your assignment, I can help you tailor your work to your instructor's expectations. The more information you can provide about the course and assignment, the better.
- For ethical reasons (I am a teacher myself), I will not write or substantially re-write student work. I can, however, provide you with detailed feedback on your writing in order to assist you in the revision process and with future assignments. I am in the business of making better writers, not just better documents.
